WHAT IS THE GPTCA?

The Global Professional Tennis Coach Association (GPTCA) is the world's leading international organization dedicated to the education, certification and development of professional tennis coaches.

Founded in 2010 by 49 ATP and WTA Tour coaches, the GPTCA was created with the mission of raising the standards of tennis coaching worldwide through knowledge sharing and continuous education.

Today, the GPTCA is represented in more than 41 countries and brings together coaches working at every level of the game, from junior development to the ATP and WTA Tours.

Through its partnership with the ATP Tour, the GPTCA offers the world's only ATP Certified coaching education program, providing coaches with access to internationally recognized qualifications and a global network of leading professionals.

THE PROGRAM & THE VENUE

FEBRUARY 3 & 4 MENTAL STRENGTH COURSE SMILE TOP PERFORMANCE

This is a specialized program designed for high-performance tennis coaches and professionals who want to better understand the mental aspect of the game and help players perform consistently under pressure.

The course focuses on developing mental strength, resilience, confidence, and emotional control, providing practical tools to manage stress, enhance motivation, build winning habits, and improve communication with players. Led by Pancho Campo, founder of SMILE Top Performance and former ATP coach, Olympic champion, and Davis Cup captain, the program combines decades of experience in elite sports with proven strategies to achieve maximum performance on and off the court.

FEBRUARY 5 TO 7 GPTCA LEVEL C COURSE

Designed for coaches who work with the next generation of players.

The GPTCA Level C Course is suitable for coaches who work with players competing in the ITF World Tennis Tour Juniors and aim to reach higher levels of the game.

This course provides a solid foundation in modern coaching methodology and prepares coaches to effectively guide young players in their transition to professional tennis.

Combining technical, tactical, physical, and mental performance concepts, the GPTCA Level C Course prepares coaches to support the long-term development of players with progression, following internationally recognized standards in high-performance tennis.
